Give Me A Reason

The Give Me A Reason drug prevention initiative is a voluntary drug testing program of the Appalachia High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) and Operation UNITE, designed as a way for our youth to avoid peer pressure and give them a reason to say "no" to drug use. When confronted with drugs, this initiative provides youth an opportunity to say:

"I can't use drugs, my parents drug test me!"

Give Me A Reason will provide free saliva-based drug testing kits to parents or caregivers. The non-invasive test is then given within the privacy of your home with results in approximately 10 minutes.

Why should I drug test?

Drug testing is a logical and simple way to hold children accountable to family rules concerning use or misuse of drugs – illegal, prescription or over-the-counter. The goal of this program is to help your child make positive life choices when faced with peer pressure. Young people are especially vulnerable to drug misuse – a time when the brain and body are still developing. Studies show that the earlier a teen begins using drugs, the more likely he or she will develop a substance abuse problem or addiction. Teens who stay away from drugs in high school are less likely to develop a substance abuse problem later in life.

Parental concerns

Parents worry that participation in a drug testing program will destroy the trust they have with their children. However, Parents have a responsibility to guide and protect their children. Parents who drug test their children are taking a firm stand against drug use and providing their child a reason to say "No."

Confidentiality

No personal data will be collected. All tests are administered confidentially within your family unit. Each kit contains a self-addressed, stamped envelope and form asking if your test results were positive or negative – and, if positive, for which drugs. An on-line form is also available.

What type of test is used?

The SalivaScan™ testing method involves taking a non-invasive swab of the mouth and comparing the results on a color bar included with the kit. The kits tests for a variety of drugs including: Amphetamines (Adderall, Meth, Ecstasy), Benzodiazepines (Xanax, Valium, Roofies), Cocaine, Marijuana, Methadone, Methamphetamine, Opiates (Codeine, Heroin, Morphine, Oxycodone, Hydrocodone), Phencyclidine (PCP) and Barbiturates (Tranquilizers).

What if the test is positive?

If a positive test result occurs, parents/caregivers should contact their family doctor, Family Resource & Youth Service Center, area hospital, health department or other professional to determine the next course of action to take. A detailed listing of resources for participating counties, as well as statewide, is available at www.operationunite.org.

Where can I obtain a kit?

To view a listing of locations where the free SalivaScan drug testing kits are available visit www.operationunite.org and follow the link on the home page.

NOTICE: A "negative" or "invalid" SalivaScan test result shall not negate any positive drug test administered at your child's school.

Clay Man Dies in House Fire

to the home, but was not successful in doing so. According to Chief Sturgill, it only took the fire crew 10 minutes to put the fire out at Sizemore's home on the Clay-Owsley Line at Clays Gap, but the house was a total loss on the inside. The cause of the fire is not know. The Kentucky State Police say the case is under investigation by Trooper Nicholas Metcalf.

PREACHERS POINT
by Tim Johnson

WORKING HARD? HOW'S YOUR HEART? (13 JULY 15)

There is an old saying among preachers, "Ninety percent of the work will be done by ten percent of the people." I'm sure this is true for many organizations that rely heavily on volunteers to do the needed work. I was once at a small-town meeting where the chief of the volunteer fire department said there were fifteen firemen. "About three" were always there, "three or four were never there" and the rest were there about half the time. It was a sobering fact; everyone seemed to be thinking, "My house may be burning down and only three guys are going to show up."

It is no different in churches, whether there are 30 people or 3,000 often a small percentage of the people carry the workload. This circumstance, of course, is not true of every church. There are churches where nearly everyone lends a helping hand. Today, it doesn't matter if you are part of a church where volunteers are as rare as a tumbleweed in the Pacific or where workers are aplenty, this week's column is to the workers. In the Bible, God complements the church at Ephesus for several things (Revelation 2:1-3). God praises them for their "work, and thy labour." That may sound like the same thing, but the words do have slightly different meanings. Work means to toil, make an effort, to be busy about something. Examples of this today would be, teaching a class, baking cookies for the children, mowing the grass, keeping the books, mopping the floor and thousands of other things. Labour goes a step further; looking at the original language the word has a definition of toil that reduces the strength, pains, labour plus trouble, weariness. Work is the things we do. Labour is the things we do that wear us down, physically and emotionally. I'm sure those that are among the ten percent of those doing ninety percent of the work can understand what God is saying here. He appreciates your effort. God continues the kudos toward the church at Ephesus by praising them for their hatred of sin, their knowledge of the Scripture, the ability to take on multiple tasks, their patience and tenacity. Even after talking of all this, God is so impressed with their labour, He mentions it again. At this point, Ephesus sound like the dream church. God, however, has one complaint, "Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love" (Revelation 2:4). Remember when you first volunteered? Remember how your heart ached within you? Your mind was running wild with thoughts like: "They need help. I can do this. God wants me to do this." Quickly you began of thinking of ways you could assist. Innovative ideas started popping into your mind about how and what to do. Years have now passed ; you are still at it, but that ache, that desire is no longer there. You show up and do your duty, not because of love, but because you have to. You have thoughts of quitting, but after all,

"If I don't do it who will?" Other thoughts run through your mind like, "Why am I the only one doing anything around here?" Maybe, it's more subtle than that. Perhaps, you are not thinking those type of thoughts. But if you honestly asked yourself why you do what you are doing; the only thing you can think of is the fact that you've always done it. You are still doing the work, you still carry the load of the labour, but the love for the work is gone. God writes to seven churches in Revelation chapters two and three. Two of those churches He has only accolades. One church, He has nothing good to say about it all. The other four, including Ephesus, he has some praise and some disapproval. Ephesus, who sounds like the perfect church, until your read the one thing wrong, is the only church of the seven, in which God threatens to remove the church unless they repent. (Revelation 1:20; Revelation 2:5). Even the church God has nothing good to say about at all (Revelation 3:14-22) He never threatens to take the church away. Whether full-time minister or a some of the time volunteer, keeping the love of the work is of the utmost importance to God. Faith is needed to please God (Hebrews 11:6) and love is required to do it right (Matthew 22:37-40). If you find yourself doing the work, but only going through the motions. If you believe that the love is gone, I would encourage you to get sincerely on your knees and talk to the Lord about it. Tell Him what's going on in your heart, but don't ask that He find someone else to do the work. Ask for the love back. "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." - Psalm 51:10.

Clarence and Liza Jane leisurely walked through the cemetery looking at headstones. Clarence remembered an incident that happened to him as a young teen. Clarence had attended most of the burials of the relatives in the cemetery with the exception of those he missed when he was gone overseas during The War. There were no funeral homes when he was growing up so their loved ones were kept at home for a few days. A wake was held in the home and people would bring food to the family's home and pay their respects. As he stood at his uncle's grave Clarence thought of the stories that his uncle had told him and his siblings. His Uncle Hobert had a reputation for telling good scary stories. Some of the older people would tell stories about "haints" that were intended to scare the children into not wandering off by themselves. Clarence and some of his cousins were alone in the house when their granny was being laid out. The cousins were eating some of the food the neighbors had brought over when they heard some strange noises coming from the casket where their granny lay. They stopped and listened for a few minutes and then went back to eating. The boys heard a whispering sound again and decided to go see what could be making those noises. As they approached the casket, they saw some a man's shoe sticking out from under the bed that was close by. They listened closely as they heard the sound again and they saw the shoe move back under the bed as they were watching. Clarence put his finger up to his mouth to signal for the others to be quiet and he pointed to the spot where the shoe had once been. He mouthed the words "Uncle Hobert is under there!" They knew in a heartbeat that it had to be their quirky uncle who liked to scare them any chance that he got. They talked about how good the sandwiches were that they were eating and said out loud that it was a shame that the food would be gone by the time their favorite uncle came back in the house to eat. They loudly stomped to the front door, slammed it shut and pretended they had gone outside and waited for the uncle to come out from under the bed. They tiptoed around the corner to the kitchen and waited. A few long minutes passed and sure enough Uncle Hobert slid out from under the bed and stood. Clarence started whispering Hobert's name and Hobert looked around the room with a strange look on his face. Clarence whispered "come over here Hobert" and Hobert looked directly at the casket where granny lay and he rubbed his forehead worriedly. Just as he was walking toward the kitchen to get some food the cousins jumped out and yelled his name and he jumped back and grabbed his chest!

Fiscal Court Meeting

stated that the Owsley County Drug Coalition was awarded an award from Hal Rogers and the drug Czar from Washington, DC. She also talked about the new program that parents can use to test drugs. The drug tests are free for parents to pick up anonymous and see if their child might be using drugs. More on this on page 2 of the Booneville Sentinel.

County Road Aid Agreement was discussed. Judge Turner stated that 3% comes off the top. The original amount is $662,154.73. The first amount will be $385,374. The second allotment will be 35% of the initial allotment. This motion was approved.

FEMA/NCRS Update was made by Judge Turner. He stated that FEMA had signed off on a little over $200,000 on work we had completed $60,000. He stated that they would probably spend $350,000 to $400,000 before they were finished. This is because they are driving steel in beside the roads to hold them. He stated that had several more places to go. NCRS – we have put in 14 gabion baskets and that is all they will sign off on. He stated that he had talked to Phillip Combs about it. Mr. Combs stated that it would be around the 1st of August before he would get back to him.

Judge Turner stated that our county was not trained for search and rescue. We had a lot of people from other counties that came in and helped with the search for the Baker man that was missing. Judge Turner wanted to give out James Pendergrass' phone number, the judges office phone number and Judge Turners phone number for anyone that would like to do rescue training. James at (606) 568-0237 or Judges Office (606) 593-6202 or Cale Turner at (606) 493-5665.

Solid Waste – Judge Turner stated that Henley McIntosh was on vacation. He stated that he wanted to bring up the committee to look over the households that were not paying for garbage disposal.

Judge Turner stated that the Sheriff had received the $50,000 grant for his trucks. The sheriff had a little over $6000 to put into the grant. The county needed to put in a $12,000 match and the sheriff needed a $7,000 match.

Judge Turner informed the court that the spay/neuter grant had been submitted and will be reviewed July 25.

The compactor grant USDA had been submitted. They would hear about it later.

Judge Turner submitted the 2014 Sheriff's Annual Property Tax Settlement.

The Fiscal Court approved the hiring of Tyler Burns as a Owsley County Deputy Sheriff.

During the review of the foreman report, a discussion was made about the bush cutter and how the Judge and Foreman James McIntosh was told it could be repaired but you could buy a new one for the same cost. A motion was made to purchase a new one and the motion was carried.

Judge Turner stated that he had hired Bill Campbell as the temporary jail transporter for inmates. Judge Turner recommended that he hire Bill Campbell to until Jailer Robert Cope was able to come back to work. Constable Little stated that Jailer Robert Cope should have a say in who they hired. Judge Turner state that he had talked to him and he was fine with hiring Bill Campbell. Magistrate Mike Thomas asked if there was already a Deputy Jailer. Judge Turner said no. Magistrate Thomas stated he had a paper that said different. Judge Turner stated several things about the person that Magistrate Thomas brought up, but he recommended Bill Campbell.

In open comments Magistrate Little brought up the parking of the Daniel Boone Transit vehicles in the park and ride lot. He stated he had several people complain to him about not having parking in town. Judge Turner stated this was a city government issue. He also stated that he was a strong supporter of the Daniel Boone Transit.

One of the drivers for Owsley County Solid Waste ask what he was to do when he was picking up garbage and there was large boxes there and they wouldn't fit on his truck? Judge Turner ask him what he did? He stated he asked his boss, James McIntosh who told him to leave them. Judge Turner stated it was written in the bylaws that if the garbage was too big that the consumers could take their large garbage to the Owsley County Garage in the back and put them in the dumpsters. Magistrate Thomas asked about getting some potholes filled, at least with dense gravel. Thomas asked about widening a road.

Magistrate Little asked about the employee's pay. Judge stated if you divide it by 24 it balances it out. If you don't add overtime, it will balance out. This has never been an issue, ever even when I was a magistrate. A way to solve the problem, that everyone is concerned with is to have the employees 2 weeks behind and pay them every 2 weeks. Linda Thomas stated that it didn't balance out. Willard Thomas stated that he was paid for 80 hours instead of the 96 hours he worked. Magistrate Little asked when the auditors was here could we talk to them and see if we can work it out with our workers. Judge Turner stated absolutely and he also stated if you want to set it up with the workers getting paid 2 weeks behind, that will be find.

Teresa Barrett asked Judge Turner if they were planning on tearing down the other house on Mulberry Street down. Judge Turner stated yes. Mrs. Barrett then asked if meth had been discovered in that house. Judge Turner stated that it was before 2007 and the law didn't take effect until 2007. Judge Turner also stated that he checked with EPA and was told that there were no houses in Owsley that meth labs had been discovered in.

4-H Robotics Camp

On Tuesday, June 30th – Thursday, July 2nd Owsley County 4-H'ers participated in a Robotics Camp. These 4-H'ers built and programmed robots using Lego Mindstorm EV3 robotics kits. Youth developed and built robots to desired specifications outlined with the kit and programmed the robot to complete specific tasks, such as move a bottle, knock on a door three times and direct the robot through a path in a challenge.

Youth utilized their team working skills as they built the robots and worked together to complete specific challenges. They were challenged to use their critical thinking and problem solving skills to complete tasks. We owe a very special thanks to Matt Coleman, Lee County volunteer for teaching the Robotics program for us.

We hope to offer more Robotics programs in the future.

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

KSP Warns of Phone Scam

(Richmond, Ky.) – The Kentucky State Police, Richmond Post has been notified that scammers are using the KSP Post 7 telephone number in an attempt to scam some central Kentucky residents.

The attempted scam begins when a caller replaces their number with the KSP Post 7 telephone number, 859-623-2404, and calls the unsuspecting person. The caller then tells them that the Kentucky State Police has a warrant for their arrest because they owe the IRS money. The caller then demands an immediate payment over the phone to avoid being arrested. Fortunately, there have not been any reports of scammers collecting any funds, but KSP has received multiple calls from people that were targeted by the scam artists.

The Kentucky State Police would like to remind people that we do not call and collect funds, or threaten arrest for unpaid taxes.

To help as a guide, below are the "Top 10 Tip-offs to a Rip-off".

- 1.) High pressure sales or frequent calls are signs that it's a scam.
- 2.) If the caller demands an immediate decision, it's likely a rip-off.
- 3.) People requesting a credit or debit card or any banking account information.
- 4.) If the caller offers to send someone to your home or to overnight something.

5.) Something for free is usually a reason to be suspicious.

6.) Unresponsive to questions or too quick to answer by cutting you off.

7.) An investment without a risk.

8.) Will not provide written information or references.

9.) Not registered with the Attorney General's Office.

10.) If it sounds too good to be true, it often is.

Should anyone receive these calls or has questions or concerns, they are encouraged to contact the Kentucky Office of the Attorney General at 502-696-5300, the Kentucky State Police, or their local police department.
